

Reciprocity

Buddy Bee works well in a team!!

Buddy Bee knows when it is appropriate to learn on his own or with others. He is able to share his ideas in group or class discussions. He listens to and respects other points of view. He picks up good habits from working with and observing good role models.

We want our children to develop the skills (capacities) involved in being reciprocal learners.

These skills, or capacities, are: collaborating, imitating, listening, showing empathy and interdependence.
